

Scene of the crime

A participant in Saturday's murder mystery checks under an actor's cap for clues. The whodunit, sponsored by the Drayton Valley Kinetix and performed by Edmonton's Sir Unicorn Enterprises, was a sellout at the Elks Hall. More than 150 took part in the ladies' luncheon. Although the 'interactive theatre' troupe performs all over Canada, this was its first-ever performance in Drayton Valley. Participants were required to guess the murderer and motive within a two-hour time limit. Winner of the $100 prize for solving the mystery was Mary Kjortien. Title of the play was "Only the Undertaker Knows for Sure."

Government department visits mill

Alberta Environment visited the Pelican Spruce Mills oriented strand board plant last Wednesday to follow up recent residential concerns.

Councillor Tim McGee, who raised that issue at the last council meeting, told The Western Review he had been told by mill owner Al Owen that Environment didn't see any violations. McGee was also told a 24-hour monitoring system was carried out from four spots in town, and everything was within the law.

McGee said he was told the only recourse was to change the act.

In an effort to get some more answers the town councillor planned to hold further talks with Owen and Alberta Environment.

Hospital security topic of discussion

Reports of the 24-hour security system at the Drayton Valley hospital being cut back are nothing but talk at this stage.

Henry Rondeau, a member of the hospital board, says his investigation into the reported cutback revealed that it was discussed during budget talks. "It was just a comment," he says.

When first contacted about a possible cutback in security at the hospital, Rondeau said, "I doubt the stories are true."

Arena delay creating havoc

The delay in opening the $1.5-million Drayton Sports Centre is causing havoc with minor hockey.

Because of the delay minor hockey president Larry Schultz says a lot of kids haven't even been on the ice yet.

The association has been trying to re-schedule games at rinks in Evansburg and Warburg.

"It's hard to tell what teams we have. It's going to be tough on the teams," Schultz admitted.

"They (the town) kept telling us the rink would be ready Oct. 8 and then the 15th, for sure," he added.

Originally, minor hockey had looked at renting ice out of town for a month but when they were told the sports centre may open as early as Oct. 8, that idea was shelved.

The rink wasn't opened Oct. 15 because the town didn't think it was operational. It didn't open this past weekend either.

Schultz says the Pembina/Sturgeon leagues where several Drayton Valley teams are playing, have been very understanding. Usually if you don't cancel a game within five days you lose your bond. So far, the league has cooperated with the local teams.

Snow job

Enjoy the weather today (Tuesday) because it's scheduled to get colder later in the week.

The Edmonton weather office is calling for a high of 13C today with an overnight low of -2C. It will be mainly sunny with increasing clouds later in the day.

For Wednesday the high will only be 3C with a low of -2C along with a 90 per cent chance of rain or snow.

The cold front will stay around for Thursday with a high of -1C and an overnight low of -8C.

On Friday look for a daytime high of 3C and a low of -8C.

Local News Briefs

Minor hockey president Lanny Schultz says all the materials needed for the outdoor rink can be moved to the site just as soon as they get word from Spectrum Construction, council's appointed contractors for the job.

However, Schultz feels the much-needed outdoor rink may be delayed as Spectrum's first priority is to finish the Drayton Sports Centre.

Impaired driving offences have dropped drastically in Drayton Valley.

According to RCMP statistics 289 impaired drivers were prosecuted in 1981 compared to less than 100 in 1987.

Yellowhead MP Joe Clark is scheduled to meet with representatives of Amoco and Mobil Oil today (Tuesday) to discuss the recent drop in oil prices.

Clark is also scheduled to do some mailstreaming and door-knocking today.

Texaco's new office building at Cynthia is expected to be completed in about two weeks.

The foundation has been completed at the new 7-Eleven convenience store located at the corner of 30 Ave. and 50 St.

Concrete slabs and bricks for landscaping have been dumped off at most of the 80 supermailbox sites around town.

Yellowhead MP Joe Clark has turned down a one-on-one debate request from Reform Party leader Preston Manning.

MLA Shirley Cripps has lined up a hectic schedule of meetings throughout her constituency.

She has planned 12 meetings on six dates with her first public meeting booked for the Drop-In Centre in Calmar tomorrow.

Concerns have been raised over status of elevator.

New satellite station replaces Breton's grain elevator

By Frank Ryan

The Alberta Wheat Pool elevator in Breton could be reverting from a full-time operation to a part time basis as early as Nov. 1.

It's the company's intention to turn the 20-year-old elevator in Breton into a satellite station. This means the elevator will no longer be staffed but it will still be opened on a periodic basis by staff from Thorby.

Grain handling services will still be available at the elevator. It just won't be full time.

Neil Hiebert, Wheat Pool manager in Breton for the past 14 years says no decision has been made as to what the Pool is planning for hours of operation.

Affected members have been notified by letter and the actions were approved by the Pool board of directors. But Hiebert says any members he's talked with are very unhappy with the situation.

The Breton Agricultural Services Board has also expressed their concerns to the MD of Brazeau.

The Wheat Pool elevator in Breton has been busy this year. Hiebert says it's plugged and he has been waiting for grain cars for two weeks.

The situation in Breton is part of the Pool's plan to close two elevators and operate two more on an as-required basis after November.

The elevator at Buffalo will be closed Nov. 1 and the St. Albert elevator will close Nov. 30. The elevator at Colinton will be run as a satellite station from Athabasca and the Breton elevator will be run in similar fashion out of Thorby.

The changes are part of an elevator consolidation process that Alberta Pool has been involved in since the early 1970s.

Farmer counting on a profitable year

By Helinda Atkinson

A number of factors have made it a fairly profitable year for farmers, according to an area man.

"The grain prices are higher and the cattle prices are relatively high," said Lee Nail who runs a ranch 25 miles west of town.

"And interest rates have been worse. They're holding in around 11 per cent or so," he continued.

Nail combined 120 acres of green feed in September and another 120 acres of oats in October.

He explained that his 30 bushels per acre was a "pretty good crop" considering oats will produce anywhere from 50 to 200 bushels per acre.

Nail has also invested in calves and although he's pleased with the $1.10/lb. price, compared to $1.40/lb. last year, he said a warm winter will be vital in ensuring a worthwhile return.

"If it's cold they'll eat more oats and there'll be less profit when I sell them in the spring," he said.

"I think it will be a pretty grim winter," he added. "The cows don't want to come home. I use that as a sign that it's not going to get too cold."

He said another sign of a warm winter is the fact that his horses haven't grown thick coats of hair yet.

Bev Brooks talks with the Nail family at Alberta Agriculture.

"The horses usually have thick coats by now if it's going to be a cold winter," said wife Judy.

Traffic patrol under way

The RCMP's traffic patrol is in full gear.

The patrol that was started in April and then took a couple of months off during the summer due to transfers, is operating once again.

It's the intention of the patrol to enforce the Highway Traffic Act in rural areas and concentrate on areas of concern in town.

Members of the detachment rotate the position every six weeks, with the member on duty splitting his shift so they can cover the concerned areas better. The first shift begins at 8 a.m. and is targeted to the early morning off-road traffic and later activity around the schools. Another shift is worked in the afternoon and again in the evening.

Last Wednesday around noon, the constable on traffic patrol handed out four tickets.

Cpl. Tom Turner, who originally set up the program in April, says they have had good response from the people regarding complaints.

Assoc. asks MD for help

The Drayton Valley Association for the Developmentally Handicapped has approached the MD of Brazeau for some financial help.

In a recent letter to the MD, executive director Bruce Nichols pointed out the County of Parkland had contributed $15,000 to support operations with the handicapped since 1978.

"For the past 10 years this has presented an integral part of the operating income," Nichols stated in his letter.

But when the MD took over from the county the grant was discontinued.

The MD is being asked to continue with the $15,000 grant, so the association may continue to provide the valuable service to the handicapped.

The 13-page brief from the handicapped association that included their financial statement was received for information at the last MD council meeting.

According to Nichols letter the association recorded a $7,385 deficit as of March 31.

Turning lane wanted

Let's not wait until too late

Serious life-threatening concerns have been expressed by residents who live and travel Highway 22 north of town.

Especially between the campground entrance (across from the golf course) and the Rocky Rapids/Cynthia corner.

RCMP have approached Alberta Transportation about putting in a passing or turning lane into the campground. It was rejected.

Residents of Northside and Fairway Meadows have been turned down once by Alberta Transportation but they are currently organizing a petition for some improvements to the intersection (about five km north of Drayton Valley) leading off Highway 22 into their areas.

And a number of residents from the Rocky Rapids area have expressed their fears of the corner joining Highway 22. One of their biggest concerns is for motorists travelling north who use both lanes and keep on going right through the intersection.

But the most important issue right now is the intersection leading off Highway 22 into Northside and Fairway Meadows. The residents either want a turning or passing lane.

At Day, principal at Frank Maddock high school who travels through the intersection twice daily, says Friday afternoons are "nightful."

Teacher Steve Hall, who is gathering names in support of some sort of change says, "I feel our lives are being threatened. Someone is going to get killed."

Because their pleas were originally turned down by Alberta Transportation, the petition will be given to MLA Shirley Cripps to see what she can do.

As so often is the case, nothing is done until it's too late. Let's not wait.

With the RCMP pushing for better access into the campground, let's hope the MLA can get Alberta Transportation to give serious thought to the situation.

Permits show there's more to our town than oil and gas

There's a very interesting issue coming before the courts in Evansburg on Monday, Nov. 7 that could have serious implication on all bikers.

"An Enlwtile/Evansburg man was stopped by RCMP on Sunday during the Labor Day weekend along Highway 16 (near the Drayton Valley overpass) and given a $50 ticket for: going the wrong way, on a one-way, on a bike.

That's right - on a bike.

Needless to say he's fighting the ticket.

Evansburg RCMP have no comment. And, it might be best for me not to say anything until I've attended the Nov. 7 court and got all the details.

But you can bet if this $50 ticket stands, bikers will have to watch their Ps and Qs.

How important are the monthly building permits?

If you're one of those Drayton Valley boosters publication of the permit goes a long way toward promoting business in the community.

Frankly Speaking

By Frank Ryan

Not many communities our size can boast of $8.4 million in permits already this year, let alone for 12 months.

To someone like the owners of IGA who have been talking for months of building a new store, the figures should indicate the Drayton Valley economy is healthy and now is a good time to build that store.

What more proof do the IGA owners need, than to look at the mill and see another $1.3 million expansion last month.

Al Owen has faith in the local economy and he's shown it in dollars, cents and jobs.

If you missed the list of impressive permits in last week's issue, I'll bring you up to date.

After just nine months the town had recorded $8,421,530 in total building permits. That included $3,856,350 in residential construction.

Total permits in 1987 were $5,628,340. That certainly should show outside investors there's more to our town than oil and gas.

If the town or the chamber of commerce are looking for a sales tool...they might consider the monthly building permits.

A good example of the growth here can be realized when one realizes that Brooks, in southern Alberta with population of 9,500 had a total of $2,182,131 after eight months.

Local gymnastics club left in limbo

Dear Editor,

Seems like the same old problem about the same time each year.

Last year it was the boxing club lost for a facility to practice out of. This year seems to be the gymnastics club's turn. It seems more than a hint that Drayton Valley is lacking user facilities or is it just poor scheduling?

For those not aware, most recreational sports, like gymnastics, play a $1-an-hour user fee for a gymnasium or, similar facility. As most groups are youth groups and non-profit organizations there is very little chance of any one group ever owning their own building. So we have been rescued by the user fee facility rental. Or have we? Consider the plight of the gymnastics club. They seem to be the only one getting bumped around lately.

Quite a difficult time when you are such a large group to keep rescheduling and not to mention the larger the group, the more irate parents you have to deal with.

You see, the downfall to being a user group is you can get pre-empted at anytime should the school request the facility (so the gymnastics club has learned after having to reschedule twice in the last month - first to accommodate the newly-formed wrestling team and then to a three-week-long science fair).

Granted, the town has graciously said they will supply the movers but one would think that after operating for 10 years in the town with one of the highest registrations every year, we would receive some priority.

Okay, so we only pay $1 per hour, but so do other groups in the school gym. The only difference is we paid the same but appear to have gotten less. No washrooms, no water (special permission has to be granted by the school), not to mention the installation of carpet in the building and numerous repairs and renovations done by our club. I wonder how many other user groups had to carpet their floors?

Actually, the rescheduling wasn't all that bad, no, not after hearing the latest via the grapevine. According to one source it is just an unnecessary expense to the school. The answer - get rid of it. Well, let's hope the gymnastics club receives fair compensation for the numerous hours and dollars

'Pre-empting not something you do'

they put into the buildings.

The real problem in a nutshell is that in the contracting to user groups there is no protection offered to be able to run a smooth, uninterrupted program.

Really, pre-empting is just not something you do with 140 kids.

Phillips Realty owner closes business

Maxine Phillips has made a lot of major decisions during her nine years in the real estate business.

But none of them were any tougher than her recent decision to close her own business (Phillips Realty) and join Century 21 Hi Point Realty.

"It was a very emotional decision," she says.

"When they (Century 21) initially approached me, I listened to what they had to say. Even after a couple of meetings I wasn't sure. I kept thinking," Phillips says.

But the turning point may have come when her lawyer advised she better start thinking about Maxine.

"I like the concept of a strong team," she admits.

The decision to close her own business and work for Century 21 will give Phillips more time with her family. "The kids are expecting me home every night to make supper now," she said with a laugh.

"It wasn't a decision that came easy," Phillips summed up.

Lorne Pinkoski, speaking on behalf of Century 21 says, "We respect Maxine's experience and hard work, for the time she has spent in the community and the commitment she has made in the community."

At Century 21 Phillips will be a licensed realtor. Her staff at Phillips Realty have been invited to make application for a position.

Audrey MacLure, who worked on the negotiations with Pinkoski, says she is "quietly confident" that Maxine Phillips will fit in at Century 21.

Probation officer/trustee heading to Calgary

Paul Duckett accepts farewell gifts.

By Steve Fletcher

After eight years in Drayton Valley, Paul Duckett is ready to take on new challenges in Calgary.

Duckett, community corrections administrator for the Drayton Valley area, has accepted a posting as a youth worker in Calgary so that his wife, Joan, can accomplish a long planned dream of completing her master's degree in clinical psychology.

Duckett's transfer date hinges on the announcement of his replacement. Although there have been some delays, he believes he should be in Calgary no later than mid-November. His family is already settled there as of early September.

"I think it's wonderful," he said of his wife's decision to return to school. While no definite plans have been set for after graduation, Duckett acknowledges that "a doctorate is always an option."

As for himself, the former separate school board chairman says he's looking forward to the challenge awaiting him at the Calgary Young Offenders Centre.

One of only two in Alberta, the centre opened in March of this year. It houses about 112 youths.

The move to Calgary is actually a homecoming of sorts for the Ducketts, who first met while undergraduates at the University of Calgary.

While having relatives living in the city is "an added plus," Duckett is quick to point out "there are a lot of aspects of the job in Drayton Valley that I'm going to miss."

He's also going to miss a community he has had a part in developing.

Duckett is finishing up five years as a trustee on the separate school board — the last two as chairman. A hibernian will be held to fill his position on the five-member board.

The Lethbridge native also served on St. Anthony's parish council and was an active member of the Knights of Columbus where he served two years as Grand Knight. Duckett was also energetic in sports, having played for many years on a recreational hockey team.

"My interest in serving the community... because I felt it was important to ensure the quality of life here as many ways as possible for myself and my family," said the former social worker.

Be wary of freebies, travel agency warns

One Drayton Valley travel agency has raised their concerns over the 'phony trips' available on the market.

A spokesman at Meier Travel had been approached by one client about a trip that, after checking, didn't even exist. People who are planning to travel are urged to check with their local travel agent first. They can also call the Better Business Bureau.

If a 'free' trip is involved, look into why you are getting a free trip.

And, it's not recommended to give your credit card number over the phone.

Drugs a concern - RCMP

Drugs are not a big problem in Drayton Valley.

That's the opinion of RCMP Cpl. Tom Turner.

"It's not any bigger here than it is in a town of equal size," Turner says.

"Drugs are always a concern. But a problem, no," he explained.

Turner says very few of their calls are to local schools. Private dwellers and local hotels head the list.

Drugs were a big issue in town during the boom times.

"It's something we're always concerned about," Turner added.

Asked where drugs rank on their list of offences, Turner says they're in the top three.

At different times during the year members of the local detachment hold drug clinics in schools and for interested community groups.

Behind the Bench

With Frank Ryan

We're hearing the plea for financial help more and more.

The town desperately needs it for their new $1.5 million sports centre and the curling club is only half-way toward their $840,000 six-sheet facility this hope to move in to next year.

Some groups have jeopardized Mayor B. L. Mayko's challenge and submitted their requests to the MD of Drayton, as many of their members live in the country. The mayor suggested this after it was apparent some clubs were approaching the town for funds, but suggested to go after the equity of Parkland, which is now in the hands of the MD.

The boxes, gymnasts, and the list goes on, of clubs, organizations and teams looking for money.

One route some groups have been following is the Wild Rose Foundation. Between April 1, 1987 and March 31, 1988 they distributed $1,822,561 in grant money.

Their fourth annual financial statement lists 92 groups that benefited from their grants. Only one of them, Drayton Valley Meats and Wheels, was listed from this area. Their grant was for $1,262.

Some of the groups successful in getting funds from the foundation included Big Brothers Big Sisters in Cold Lake, Pilot Parents Association at Rocky Mountain House, Grande Cache Chamber of Commerce ($50,000 to cover materials and services for their tourist information, interpretive centres and the Jasper Songsters.

For more information on the Wild Rose Foundation and how it just might be able to provide some necessary funds for you, call 428-6373.

Oh, how sweet it was... to see the Canucks whip the Oilers 6-2 and the Flames to hand the champs a 6-1 lacing.

DULL is the word that best describes last week's Oilers/Kings long-awaited clash.

It seemed so strange to see Gretzky wearing anything but an Oilers jersey.

Big game deaths

Every year RCMP and fish and wildlife officers are called out to deal with big game deaths on area highways. Two of the worst spots are on Highway 39 by the old peat moss plant and on Highway 20, between the Aisike corner and the railway tracks near Breton. This sign near Breton appears to have been used for target practice.

Wife a 'single parent' during hunting season

By Helinda Atkinson

A police officer's wife lives with certain anxieties — the late nights, an erratic schedule and the paranoia of injury or death.

But imagine taking that officer's handgun away and giving him a 1,500-square-mile territory to cover single-handedly. On top of that, imagine that every assailant under investigation carries at least one large rifle.

This scenario is an everyday reality for Chris Kreiser whose husband, Fred, is the fish and wildlife officer for the Drayton Valley and area district.

For the past nine years, since their wedding and Fred's graduation from Lethbridge Community College, the couple has built a life around strange schedules and dangerous circumstances.

In between assignments in Cochrane, Edmonton and Drayton Valley, they've added two new members to the clan — Rachel, 5, and Derek, 7 — but Chris admits that Fred's schedule is not ideal for family life.

"Hunting season runs from mid-September to mid-December. That's when I become a single parent," Chris says.

"Sometimes he'll get called out three or four times in a night and he won't get home until 2:00 a.m.," she explains.

But Chris has gotten used to her husband's vocation and knows better than to plan anything during hunting season.

She's also used to the danger. Fred can handle himself, he's well trained," she says.

Chris explains that the majority of complaint investigations involve hunters who've made honest mistakes and are willing to "take their lumps."

"I'm more worried about poachers. That's serious stuff," she says. "They're more apt to shoot first and ask questions later."

"I would feel better if someone was working with him," she admits.

Fred has been lucky. There have been dangerous incidents in surrounding districts but the nine-year veteran has never been threatened or injured.

Chris, however, has received rude comments from people who were upset over hunting or fishing fines.

"I just tell them that Fred has the same authority and duties as an RCMP officer. If he sees someone breaking the law he can't ignore it," she says, adding that hunters seldom agree.

Chris doesn't mind the odd complaint, but she becomes a little annoyed by the numerous telephone calls she receives at home.

She explains that people become angry when she can't give them information or locate her husband immediately.

"Sometimes they hang up on me because they get so frustrated," she says. "But I don't have some sort of magic telephone line where I can call him anytime."

Pickup school perfect hosts

Host teams proved to be perfect hosts at the H.W. Pickup 16-team volleyball tournament last Saturday.

The H.W. girls failed to advance to the playoff round as they finished the girls' 'A' pool round-robin with a 1-5 win in loss record. They lost by identical scores of 15-6 and 15-2 to Huffield and Stony Plain and gained a split with Lindale, winning 15-8 and dropping a 15-13 match.

The boys tied Stony Plain for top spot in the boys' 'A' pool and after a tough three-game set, bowed out to Woodhaven in semi-final play. They dominated Entwistle 15-11 and 15-4, handed Huffield identical 15-3 setbacks and lost twice to Stony Plain by scores of 15-7 and 15-8.

Woodhaven, who had won the 'B' pool, defeated H.W. 15-11 in their first meeting before the locals tied the series with a 15-13 decision. In the sudden death game, Woodhaven edged the stubborn H.W. boys 18-14 in a game that could have gone either way.

In the other semi-final game, Stony Plain also needed three games to eliminate Grande Cache. Stony Plain won the opening game 15-11, lost 15-1 but rebounded with a 18-16 win.

Stony Plain had trouble with Woodhaven in the boys' final before winning 16-14 and 18-16.

The Woodhaven girls had a much easier time in their final as they downed Stony Plain 15-10 and 15-1.

The action moves to Frank Maddock High this weekend for 12-team tourney.

Chris Kreiser visits Fred's office on his 'day off.'

She says messages have to go through the Outsour Observer office in Edmonton before they are relayed to Fred, which sometimes takes hours.

"I really don't have anything to do with my husband's job," she says, referring to the dozens of telephone enquiries. "My husband has volumes of regulation books, that's what he went to school for."

Aside from the calls, dinner and dinners alone, Chris says there are many pluses in having a fish and wildlife officer for a husband.

"He knows so much about animals. And he knows where all the good picnic spots are," she says.

And as for the kids, how many young children can say their father occasionally brings lawns, eagles and bear cubs home.

"Kids came running from every direction the day Fred brought bear cubs home," she said. "They were so excited."

Cheerleading competition stiff

After two years of trying to get an idea off the ground, four local students are literally cheering "Victory!"

Bawn Mellings, Leslie Babuk, Shelley Kueck and Krystal Mason, all Grade 9 H.W. Pickup students, wanted to start a cheerleading squad.

"No one was willing to help us," said Mellings.

Finally Rita Steele, the school's language arts and social studies teacher, volunteered to supervise and coordinate the girls' efforts.

They announced their intentions over the intercom and response was overwhelming.

Twenty-seven girls signed up immediately, all eager to take a place on the squad but only 15 will be chosen.

"Competition is very stiff," said Steele. "Unfortunately, there wouldn't be room for games if all these girls made it on the squad."

Steele said her involvement is minimal compared to the four girls.

H.W. Pickup students practice cheers in the school gym.

The Grade 9 students will make the final selection, choose which cheers will be used and organize all fund-raising efforts, including a door-to-door egg sale task, for an egg at one house and sell it at the next.

The girls are slowly starting to select the squad and hope to have 15 chosen within two weeks. At each practice, amidst screams and flailing arms, they watch for coordination, attendance, loudness and determination.

The girls know they're being judged and the air is thick with tension. There's no fooling around when 27 competing girls scream, "Victory, victory, is our cry!"

They mean it. They all want victory.

11 nominees for O'Keefe award

Eleven nominations have been received for the 1988 Curling O'Keefe Award of Merit, the top individual award in amateur curling in Alberta.

Those nominated are: George Stroll, Wabasca-Demara, who has been principally responsible for bringing minor curling in the isolated native communities of northern Alberta;

Ben Dorval, vice-president of Curling Alberta and an outstanding coach for 17 years in Fort Saskatchewan;

Elmer Schielke, Provost, past-president of Curling Alberta, who was instrumental in developing Provost's minor curling program into one of the best in the province;

Lawrence Brandenburg, one of the top minor curling coaches in Fort Saskatchewan;

Michael Pawliuk, Two

Hills, long-time coach and president of the Two Hills minor curl association;

Orrest Babuk, Edmonton, curling chairman for the Edmonton Federation of Community Leagues;

Robert Burns, St. Albert, former president of the St. Albert Minor Baseball Association and secretary-treasurer of the Sunburst League;

Gerry Gehlen, Grand Centre, the driving force in the establishment of the Grand Centre Minor Baseball Association and Lakeland League;

Dennis Litterer, Okotoks, minor league coach in his community for 17 years;

David Reinger, Edmonton, former player and coach who continues to play a key role in amateur baseball development as a sponsor and builder; and,

Ross Speers, Sherwood Park, long-time executive member of the Sherwood Park Baseball Association and director of Baseball Alberta.

Last year's recipient was Nick Buchanovsky of Edmonton.

The award will be announced and presented Nov. 7.

European hockey tour deadline approaches

Final registration is now being accepted for Team Western Hockey Club's tour of Holland, Germany, France and England Jan. 6-16.

Team Western, an adult hockey club based in Winnipeg which recruits players from across Western Canada to play in Europe, will play five no-contact exhibition games during its 11-day tour. Players are responsible for their own travel expenses, while the club provides uniforms, jackets, duffle bags and makes all the travel arrangements.

Team spokesman Dave Springett says the group already has players from Alberta and needs "about three or four more to fill the roster."

Players can get more information by calling Springett at (201) 632-1521.

Sports Centre ready to open

The Drayton Sports Centre is scheduled to open this Friday.

Recreation director Paul Nielsen says people will be entering a substantially finished building.

The decision to open the arena this weekend was made after a site meeting last Friday.

Despite a couple of delays the grand opening is still set for Nov. 6.

140 registered for gymnastics

By Linda Mackinnon

Once again the Drayton Valley Gymnastics Club is near the top of the list, in town, for youth recreation with a fall season registration of 110 participants.

A few new changes this year will see a parent viewing day set up near the end of the season for parents' fun in, to, and with their children in class. The club will also introduce a program evaluation form to be filled out to try and improve programming each year.

This year the club has a qualified coaches' meet at the club where about 12 attended a parent meeting at Alder Place.

sponsored by the Alberta Gymnastics Federation. On Oct. 1 and 2 they attended the annual interclub regulatory workshop at the University of Calgary.

The gymnasium, the club's largest fundraiser, will be held Saturday, Nov. 19 at Floradale school gym.

A reminder to all members that all classes, Nov. 2 to 23 inclusive, will be held in the Floradale school gym. More notice will be given at a later date.

This year was our largest chocolate bar sales fundraiser ever. Top sales were Crystal Swartz, 290 bars; Jennifer Johnson, 240; Jennifer and Carly Hearn, 210; Mandy Gaby, 180; and Lee Ann Thompson, 170.

Clippers play a close game

The much improved Rosebud Clippers lost a close midweek game Saturday night in Barrhead.

After dropping a 9-1 decision to Stony Plain in their league opener the Clippers rebounded with a 1-3 loss in Barrhead.

And on Sunday in exhibition play the local nuggets lost 7-3 to host Wabamun.

I was really proud of the guys, said manager George Bergeau.

Steven Foster was outstanding between the pipes in the 4-3 loss to Barrhead.

The guys worked hard and we cut our penalty minutes down, he added.

On Sunday the Clippers only had 10 skaters for their game at Wabamun.

The fellows are getting used to each other, Bergeau says. We led 3-1 at one stage in the game but the guys simply ran out of gas.

The Clippers, winless in two league starts, are scheduled to host Barrhead Friday night and travel to Wabamun on Saturday. Both are league games.

Dr. James Dobson films will be shown Oct. 30 at 8 p.m. For more information contact the church.

Space will be provided free to any church organization wishing to announce upcoming events. Please contact The Western Review office prior to Thursday of each week.

All Saints Anglican Church The church welcomes everyone to Power in Parenthesis: The Adolescent Oct. 30 in the Frank Maddock high school gym. This third film in Dr. James Dobson's Turn Your Heart Toward Home series focuses on family life and parenting.

Around the Province

Halloween prank Fire officials in Olds are treating a recent fire as an early Halloween prank.

An Olds farmer had 4,300 straw bales in his field torched. The bales were valued at $35,000.

Church pulpit

The United Church congregation at Clive, east of Lacombe, is threatening to leave the church if a national vote on gay ordination is not held by Nov. 30.

MD could obtain $238,000 grant

The MD of Brazeau is in a position to receive $238,000 via the community tourism grant.

This figure is based on a predicted Jan. 1 population of 5,516.

However, there is one catch before they will receive any money.

According to manager John Eriksson, the MD will need a tourist action plan committee. At the present time they don't have any firm plans to proceed in this direction.

Independent candidate files papers

Pat O'Hara, president of the Western Independence Party, has filed his nomination papers with the Yellowhead riding returning officer.

O'Hara, a former Milton electrical contractor and hard ware store owner, will contest the election on three main points: Bill Joe Clark's record in the riding, the Reform Party's "opportunism," and the belief that the Western Independence Party is "economically viable, socially moderate and culturally imperative," states a news release.

4,000 support fair

Nearly 4,000 people attended this year's trade fair, reports the chamber of commerce.

The chamber has already booked the new Drayton Sports Centre for the 1989 edition, which will take place on the weekend of Sept. 10.

The chamber says it welcomes any suggestions regarding the holding of next year's fair.

UNICEF to begin annual fund drive

The United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF) begins its annual fund raising drive next week.

The UNICEF drive takes place on Halloween night when young trick-or-treaters collect money for the organization at the same time they collect their goodies.

Local organizer Peggy Tyler says she hopes this year's drive will be as successful as 1987 when a total of $1,450 was raised — up $500 from the previous year.

Last year's theme was 'A Miracle in the Making.' This year it's 'The Rights of the Child' and Tyler was busy last week informing grade 3, 4, and 5 classes about the importance of UNICEF and how it aids needy children in impoverished areas throughout the world.

Dressed in a judge's robe and wig, Tyler gave brief talks on the human rights of children at local schools. She was assisted by Jenny Harris.

Senior of the Week

Charlie Vande Voorde is giving his car a rest for the winter.

By Belinda Atkinson
There's something romantic about hitting the open highway with all belongings in tow and no destination in mind.

But there's something amazing about an 82 year old man who considers it a way of life.

Charlie Vande Voorde is an exception to most rules of aging. I honestly can't tell you where I'll be come spring, says he spry 82 year old.

As a young man Vande Voorde traveled extensively throughout Alberta, Saskatchewan and BC taking odd jobs on farms or renting space for his own blacksmith shop.

Even his marriage in 1926 didn't slow the vagabond down. The couple lived in 24th communities before finally settling on a farm in Breton in 1956.

In the time Vande Voorde had five sons to feed and clothe. Travels was stopped for 26 years of full-time farm.

ing as well as outside jobs in the oil field.

But even after all those years in the past Vande Voorde had his first life divorced. lived on his farm for a year and then went on the traveling circuit again.

I bought a brand new station wagon and put 15,000 miles on it in less than three years, he said proudly.

Now on his third vehicle Vande Voorde said he traveled 15,000 miles last summer alone.

I guess I knew said I'm too old to drive but my doctor told me it's good exercise.

Vande Voorde gets around when I'm not in the car has he spent six months as a woman in Moose Jaw but, all the need to get on the road again.

I said it was up to her if she wanted to come but she said she couldn't.

case," he said referring to her nickname for his camper-trailer. Solent.

He lived with another woman in South Alberta, but he relationship was short-lived after two and a half years when she died of cancer.

After then a few months he had the son of his first wife. For a few years he was a newspaper's assistant for companies but had a "career."

Now he has a career as a blacksmith. He is a member of the Canadian Blacksmith Association.

Kinsmen president Derek Callias and Nicole Illias

Committee on hold

A medical advisory committee for the Drayton Valley Ambulance Service has not yet been established.

It's still not clear on hold, said Larry Edwards, a service supervisor and paramedic.

He said that a medical advisor is working with the ambulance service on a temporary basis until the committee is set up.

The advisory board would authorize emergency medical technicians and paramedics to perform certain medical procedures in emergency cases.

Medical advisory boards are active at most ambulance services throughout the province.

The Kinsmen Club of Drayton Valley found itself on the receiving end of a cash donation last week.

The service organization was the recipient of a $500 donation on courtesy of the 1988 Frank Maddock high school grad bash committee.

We felt the Kinsmen help us so much that this is a type of reward, said committee chairman Nicole Illias.

She added the committee decided to hand over proceeds from ticket sales to the bash so the community knows the money goes to a worthwhile cause.

The remaining $500 in profits from the grad bash will be used to organize next year's event.

Kinsmen Club president Derek Callias said the donation was a pleasant surprise.

Normally we go the other way, he said, to the ones who have to raise the money, quipped Callias. But we very much appreciate being recognized.

Callias stressed that contrary to the criticism which precipitated last spring's bash, the club's only participation in the event was to ensure that everyone got home safely. We didn't plan to coordinate it, or organize it.

The Kinsmen Club has been involved in the grad bash for at least the last four years and will probably have home students again next year added Callias.

He said the club will rededicate the money to a project geared toward the "betterment of the community."

Jeff Wardlow has started work as the MD's administrative director

Local lawyer takes MD Brazeau job

By Steve Fletcher

Lawyer Jeff Wardlow sees his new job with the Brazeau M.D. as an opportunity to enhance his expertise rather than as simply a career change.

"The job isn't broad enough that I can tackle almost anything," said the University of Alberta trained barrister, who will now direct the administrative paperwork at the fledgling municipal district.

"I'm going to have the law practice," admits Wardlow, who was named the new M.D.'s director of administration Oct. 1.

"The law involves a lot of time. It's interesting and satisfying to help people - to a large extent that's what I'm doing here."

Wardlow isn't exaggerating when he says his job description at the M.D. is not easily defined.

The long-time Drayton Valley resident has the added responsibilities of being the district's assistant municipal secretary, the secretary to the agricultural services board, the development officer, the assistant director of municipal disaster services and the clerk of the court of revision.

"I think I'll find it very challenging," he says. "This should give me...the municipal affairs background I want - maybe at some point in the future such a wide base of experience here will leave me open for other, very high level positions."

Wardlow grew up in Drayton Valley before heading off to the University of Lethbridge, where he earned his bachelor of arts degree. After obtaining his LL.B. from the U of A, Wardlow practised law in both Sherwood Park and Drayton Valley.

Sexuality workshop scheduled

A weekend workshop dealing with teenage sexuality is slated to take place in Drayton Valley next month.

It's Cool to Know Your Way in a Relationship' is sponsored by the Alberta West Central Health Unit, AADAC and the Powerhouse. Further Education Council and will be held at the Provincial Building Nov. 18, 19 and 20.

With discussion directed by teen leaders and an adult facilitator, the course is designed to help young teens recognize and resist pressures towards early sex ual involvement, and realize that abstinence is a viable option," states a workshop pamphlet. It helps teens by exploring strategies for dealing with these pressures.

The workshop is open to anyone 13 to 16 years of age. The course was previously held in Drayton Valley last spring, and received an "excellent response," said Barbara Latimer, teen program coordinator.

She added that another workshop will be held early next year if the demand is there following next month's presentation.

All parents are encouraged to attend the parents' session on the first day of the workshop.

Those interested in attending should contact their school counselor.

Pressurized air can cause injury

By Dr. Bob Young

Hang! You're dead! Some youngsters are slow to outgrow the childhood excitement of painting something at a friend and "shooting" them.

The persistent impulse, often occurring during horseplay or other fooling around, has led to a large number of injuries and even death. Firearms, of course, are so obviously dangerous in careless hands that they are not to be considered.

But what about compressed air? Not a very harmless. Most dramatic is the damage that can be caused by being gassed by the air from the neighborhood soccer station. If the target is struck and a blast of high pressure air enters the rectum, devastating injury can ensue.

The lower bowel is likely to rupture, spilling its infected contents into the abdominal cavity causing peritonitis. Even if bursting does not occur the stretching will tear blood vessels and lead to internal and external bleeding. Infection can easily be fatal.

The grease gun can also cause problems. It is perfectly capable of injecting its load of lubricant through the skin and deep into the tissues. The involved areas, often hands and fingers, become inflamed, swollen and infected.

The body's defenses cannot handle grease, and it has to be removed surgically. This is difficult as the grease melts and spreads, and the detergents and solvents needed to clean it up may also cause damage. Often the surgeon has no recourse.

Medically Speaking

other than cutting out the lubricant laden tissue.

This sort of damage is usually inflicted on oneself or an friend or workmate. Those involved are generally unaware there is any danger in the game they are playing and surprise is near with shame when a tragic outcome results.

High pressure paint guns can inflict similar injuries. Many other injuries are the result of "painting and shooting." It's a habit that should be unlearned early in

CANADA-ALBERTA GREENFEED PROGRAM

FINAL REMINDER OF SITE INSPECTION DEADLINE

The Canada Alberta Greenfeed Program was established to encourage production of livestock feed supplies for drought affected areas of the province and to assist in soil conservation.

To be eligible for a program payment, those Alberta farmers who planted annual feed crops for hay, silage or pasture and have already applied for assistance must notify the local Alberta Hay and Crop Insurance

Office prior to October 31, 1988 to have the site inspected.

Failure to request an inspection by October 31, 1988 will make you ineligible under the program.

For further information contact your local Alberta Hay and Crop Insurance Corporation office.

Sunpine Forest Products development approved

The provincial government has approved a project proposed by Sunpine Forest Products Ltd. for the Brazeau timber development area.

The project involves the construction of a sawmill, a wood treatment plant, a planer mill, a manufacturing centre and a pole plant, all to be located at Rocky Mountain House. In addition, a fireboard plant, unique in Alberta, will likely be constructed near Burnstick Lake in the municipal district of Clearwater.

By the time the project is complete and operating at capacity it will produce 800 million board feet of 40 million board feet of which will be treated. The fireboard plant will produce 100 million square feet of one-eighth inch fireboard, a new product to Alberta and one that is expected to find good markets in Alberta, Canada and abroad.

COUNTY OF PARKLAND NO. 31 LAND USE BY-LAW REVIEW

The County of Parkland is commencing a major review of the County's Land Use By-Law (By-Law 8-86, as amended), and would appreciate input and comment on possible changes to this By-Law from County residents and other interested parties.

The Land Use By-Law is the County document which governs land use in general, and establishes specific regulations and requirements for development in the County. This document divides the County into a number of Land Use Districts and prescribes the kinds of development which may take place within each district.

A copy of the current Land Use By-Law is available for review at the Planning and Development Department at the County Administration Office, Snowy Mountain. Ideas and suggestions for changes to this document should be addressed to the Municipal Planning Commission in care of the undersigned. You are encouraged to make your submission by November 30.

Please note that this request for public input does not, in any way, replace the formal public hearing which is a prerequisite to adoption of any Land Use By-Law. Such hearing will be scheduled later in the By-Law review process and will be advertised in accordance with statutory requirements.

Young, inexperienced drivers at risk

Inexperience with the effects of alcohol, plus inexperience behind the wheel, combine to place new, young drivers at risk, says Jim Hansen, chairman of the board of governors of the Alberta Motor Association.

"Perhaps we should not be requiring teenagers to learn how to drive at the same time some of them are learning how to drink," says Hansen. He proposed the AMA join the provincial government in a research project into the impact of raising the minimum drinking age.

Provincial government statistics show drivers 16- to 19 years old are more likely to be involved in a traffic collision than other age groups," he says. "And if the collision involves alcohol, the drinking driver is more likely to be a male, 18 to 21 than any other category of age or gender."

Experience in other jurisdictions has convinced the AMA the question of raising the minimum drinking age is worth examining, he says. In the United States, the drinking age has been raised to 21 years in all states over the past 10 years.

"Michigan raised its drinking age to 21 in 1978. Involvement in alcohol related collisions by 18- to 20-year olds decreased by 31 per cent the following year," says Hansen.

Did you know?

In the event of a major disaster, the town office would be set up as the Command Centre which would coordinate relief help, etc. to the fire department, rescue operations, etc.

The alternative Command Centre will be H.W. Pickup school.

Time for Canadians to stop arms race

Submitted by
Rosemarie Sackris
Canadian Peace
Pledge Campaign

Why should Canadians become more involved in the nuclear weapons buildup capable of killing every man, woman and child on earth 20 times over?

This year again, through Canadian government political commitments, we will spend $300 in tax dollars on the military for every person in your family. And, if the government implements its Defence White Paper, we will have committed ourselves to billions of tax dollars more for military programs.

Think about the following implications of such spending in terms of quality of life you, your children, your grandchildren and for the future of Canada itself.

In economic terms, the arms race is life threatening to you right now. The demands it makes on public funds are in direct competition with continued and renewed economic and social development. If $12 billion is allocated by the federal government to Canada's proposed Arctic nuclear-powered submarine fleet, that's $12 billion that cannot be freed for social programs or domestic investment.

What about Canada's economic productive capabilities? Military production has had a devastating impact on the U.S. economy, especially on productivity. We cannot afford the inefficiencies of the heavily subsidized military economy into which the new defence policy is pushing us.

The Canadian government, as any other, is continually making choices in the allocation of the public purse. Security and protection come in various forms, and elected officials are choosing weapons spending over protection from daily threats to health and well being, like the agricultural crisis, the greenhouse effect and its literacy.

The Canadian Peace Pledge Campaign is encouraging citizens to stand up and reject the Cold War approach to security.

In this election year, can test aspiring Canadian politicians and ask them how money will be spent, what choices will be made, and why. Take the pledge, and an election day, vote Canada out of the arms race.

Nice moves, good hams wins 'beauty' contest

The 4 H Swine Club held its version of a beauty contest Oct. 15 west of Lindsdale.

Titled Swine Club Achievement Day, seven young swines competed under junior and senior categories for trophies declaring them the best 4 H pigs of the year.

The swines' owners, all area children, single-handedly raised the pigs and charted their expenses in hopes of making a good showing at the year-end event.

They led their pets around a pen owned by organizer Denis Martin and spent much of the time breaking up fights between the contestants as judge Keith Rasmussen checked various factors.

"This one is nicely put together - moves well, good underline, good open shoulders, good hams," Rasmussen said, describing Sweet 'n Sour, the first place winner under the senior category.

Owner Cathy Elbert, 11, also owner of last year's winner, was happy to win but she explained that the 4 H club is more than a competition.

We go to the Ice Capades, rodeos, swimming and to the water slides," she said, adding it's more of a social club for kids.

The winner under the junior category was chosen more for his brute strength than his ability to pose before a judge.

"I'd have to say number five is the winner...he's a strong pig," Rasmussen said of the contestant who'd spent 10 minutes trying to remove Dennis Martin from the pen.

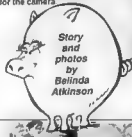

Prizes were also awarded for best book keeping, showmanship and grooming last Saturday at the club's annual dinner.

A junior contestant, confident of his chances, joins the seniors' competition.

Tiny has a high-protein snack to wind down after the weekend competition.

Competition is fierce when you're after the "Top 4-H Swine" title. Jealous contestants resort to biting.

Don't phone

The MD of Brazeau will be requesting Alberta Transportation to install the necessary direction signs indicating the location of the Fragervold Museum located in Lodgepole. The only way to find the museum in the past was to telephone for directions.

AOC loans over $2M

Alberta Opportunity Company (AOC) authorized 31 small business loans totalling more than $2.1 million during the month of August.

AOC, funded through the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund, is a Crown corporation which provides financial assistance to help Alberta businesses when such help is not readily available from conventional sources. In addition, it offers management counselling services to AOC clients when requested.

Northern Alberta loan authorizations totalled $714,300 for businesses in High Level, St. Paul, Nampa, Grande Prairie, Sexsmith, Onaway and Glenview.

In central Alberta loans totalling $550,000 were approved. These businesses are located in Vermilion, Lloydminster, Wainwright, Blackfalds, Innisfail, Penhold and Red Deer.

New well a learning experience

Current oil prices haven't stopped major oil companies from demonstrating their commitment to the future education of workers in Alberta's petroleum industry.

Gulf Canada Resources donated $100,000 toward the completion of a training and education center for oilfield production on the campus of Calgary's Southern Alberta Institute of Technology (SAIT).

When completed in 1991, the Wellsite Production Education Centre (WPEC) will simulate a producing well like those found near Drayton Valley. A mixture of vegetable oil, water and compressed air will circulate through the fully cased well and associated production equipment to simulate field processing of produced fluids.

Funding for the $2.8 million project is being secured by a combination of donations from Alberta's energy sector and matching grants under the province's advanced education endowment and incentive fund.

Keith Caldwell, Gulf's vice president of exploration says the production simulation centre will "greatly enhance the training for students at SAIT."

Oil companies will be able to use the fully-enclosed facility for everything from

Education still important in the oil patch employee training and centre to provide upgrading to applied familiarization courses to non-technical employees and industry may also use the other groups.

Have a safe, fun Halloween

Each year, on Halloween, children suffer preventable injuries resulting from falls or motor vehicle collisions. The Alberta Motor Association offers some suggestions for parents, children and motorists to ensure a safe, fun filled evening.

Dark clothing can make it virtually impossible for a trick or treaters to be seen. Retro reflective material, available at most hardware or auto supply stores, or auto supply stores, will increase the visibility of a costume.

A hand held flashlight provides additional illumination for children who should be able to see clearly in all directions. Face makeup and a properly worn hat or wig will not obstruct vision. If a mask cannot be avoided, enlarge the eye-holes for better visibility.

The AMA also says children should be accompanied by adults or older siblings should accompany younger children on their trick or treat rounds to keep track of homes visited, treats received from unfamiliar houses, and to make certain youngsters don't wander from the immediate neighborhood.

The AMA offers several driving tips for motorists. Headlights should be turned on as soon as it is dark. Limit driving speed to 30 km per hour in residential areas, and be on the lookout for children darting out from between parked vehicles. Back out of driveways cautiously and make turns safely.

The AMA emphasizes that adequate preparation can help everyone drive and walk with extra caution, and have a horribly good time.

Infant seat belt law amended

Alberta's seatbelt law has been amended to allow recognized early childhood groups to transport children by car on organized field trips using the cars regular seats.

Previously, all children had to be transported in approved child safety seats restrained by the car's seatbelts only.

Alberta now joins

Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Nova Scotia in exempting recognized early childhood groups from the requirement to use child safety seats in volunteers' cars for transporting children on short field trips. The amendment does not apply to casual transportation not directly connected to an early childhood service activity.

cars for transporting children on short field trips. The amendment does not apply to casual transportation not directly connected to an early childhood service activity.

The fun of moving

While Cam and Colleen Todd were busy moving into their new home in Drayton Valley last week two-year-old son Justin took advantage of the wrapping paper around the kitchen to have a little fun. The Todds are newcomers to town, moving here from Calgary. Cam is the new engineering supervisor at Amoco. Their other son Nathan, 4, was busy playing with the empty boxes in the back yard.

Cadet earns parachute wings

For C/MWO Aron Young of Leduc, Aug. 24 was a memorable day in his career.

It was on this day 45 top cadets drawn from cadet corps across Canada boarded a Hercules aircraft at Namao Air Base and flew directly to the "drop zone" there, before parents and friends, the contingent "bailed out" of the aircraft. Upon landing, the cadets secured their "chutes" and marched to the observation point.

On arrival, the troop formed up and received their wings from Lt. General Quinn of Ottawa. A reception for the cadet parents, friends and interested parties concluded the eventful day.

MWO Young, from the time he joined the 2561 Breton Cadet Corps April 1985, worked with diligence and determination. In the summer of 1986 he qualified as cadet leader at the Vernon Army Cadet camp. He earned his cadet leader instructors qualification in 1987 and helped with the instruction at the local corps level. In March of this year he passed the Alberta Gold Star Course at Penhold with honors. In June Young qualified for the para course.

Aron Young has also qualified for the Gold Duke of Edinburgh award and will be meeting Prince Philip on his next visit to Canada to make the presentation.

Abusive behaviour can take several forms

Interagency presents...

For these articles the terms "family violence" and "abusive relationships" will be used interchangeably. Often violent or abusive behaviour is called "battering" which is defined as "assaultive behaviour between adults in an intimate, sexual, usually cohabiting relationship."

Assaultive behaviour can take many forms, including but not limited to:

Physical abuse: pushing, shoving, slapping, punching, kicking, breaking bones, locking out of one's home, abandoning in an unsafe place, murder.

Emotional and psychological abuse:

putdowns, constant criticism, breaking down one's belief system (cultural or religious), threats to hurt or kill children or pets, making partner watch children being abused and not allowing partner to intervene, destruction of property and pets, jealousy, denying the partner the opportunity to keep friends, social contacts, outside interests, controlling partner's talk, making partner account for every minute, every action, controlling with fear.

Sexual abuse: forced unwanted sex, demanding that partner wear more/less provocative clothing, forced sex with objects, friends, animals, insisting partner act out pornographic fantasies, denial of partner's sexuality.

Economic abuse: allowing partner no money of her own or no opportunity to improve her earning capacity, forcing partner to hand over every penny, whether or not she works/earns own money, forcing partner to account for every cent.

Wife assault is a fact of life in families across Canada.

Some facts about wife assault: Wife assault is as common in rural households as in cities.

Wife assault is as common in high income as in low income families.

Wife assault spans all ages, races and nationalities.

Wife assault is rarely a one time occurrence.

Beatings are frequently severe.

Wife assaults do become homicides.

Wife assaults happen after hours - primarily between 5 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Most wife assaults happen in private places, away from the eyes of neighbors, friends and any potential help for the victim.

Wife assaults often occur during pregnancy.

BATTLE RIVER REGIONAL PLANNING COMMISSION

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE REGIONAL PLAN

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given that

- (a) The Battle River Planning Commission intends to amend the Battle River Regional Plan.
- (b) The purpose of the amendments is to recognize changes which have occurred in the political, social, and economic environment since the Regional Plan was adopted in 1982, and specifically to fine tune the Plan to operate in a de-regulatory environment.
- (c) Copies of the proposed amendments may be obtained from the office of the Commission at the address below.
- (d) Pursuant to section 49 of the Planning Act, a public hearing will be held in the offices of the Commission at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday 30 November 1988, at which time representations may be made by any person, group, organization, or local authority claiming to be affected by the proposals.
- (e) Representations may be made in writing or verbally. Written submissions will be copied and distributed to Commission members and the press if they are received before the date of the hearing.
- (f) In the interest of hearing all those who wish to be heard, the time allowed for verbal submissions may be limited by the chair.
- (g) Further information may be obtained from the Commission at the address below.

Life full of stone walls

Discontent, disgruntled? We can always do better. Not enough happening in your life?

Have you been giving the Holy Spirit enough room to work?

Are we waiting on Jesus to renew our strength? Are we alive to the reality of the supernatural?

Do you know what it means to say, "Lord Jesus, Your grace is sufficient?"

The Greek philosopher and mathematician, Archimedes, said, "If I were given three things I could move the earth off its axis: a standing place out yonder in space; a fulcrum; a lever long enough and strong enough and I will move the world."

We have a standing place - the love of God. We believe in God, who has created and is creating in life, in death, in life beyond death. God is with us - we are not alone.

We have a fulcrum - the fellowship of the living Christ.

We have our lever - the power of the Holy Spirit.

Have we been giving the Holy Spirit enough room to work?

John Wesley, the renown

From the Pastor's pen

By Rev. Wes Herbert
DV United Church

Methodist preacher, and his friend were watching a cow standing perplexed, looking over a stone wall. John Wesley asked why and the friend replied, "It's simple. She's looking over the wall because she can't see through it."

Life is full of stone walls, problems, setbacks, disappointments and discouragements. Just can't cope anymore, can't look over, can't see through. But wait! Hear the good news!

"We can rejoice too when we run into problems, for we know how dearly God loves us and we feel this warm love everywhere within us because God has given us the Holy Spirit to fill our hearts with His love (Romans 5:5).

Are you waiting on Jesus to renew your strength? Think about self and trouble goes. Think about Jesus and trouble goes.

Exercising good news! Jesus cares about what is happening in our work. Dreams, marriage, life, school. Let Jesus come into our life. There is no output without the input of God's redeeming grace.

Know the power of faith renewed. Faith is a mathematical power. It subtracts weakness, adds power, divides difficulty, multiplies possibilities. That's the way to live! Feel the reservoir of God's strength well in us.

Fast-paced drama to be shown Oct. 29

'Caught,' a fast-paced drama from World Wide Pictures will open Oct. 29 at the Cadium Theatre in Drayton Valley.

'Caught' is the story of 18 year old American Tim Deven (John Shepherd) who goes to Amsterdam in search of the father he has never known. His mother, Janet Deven (Jill Ireland), reluctantly admits he was born illegitimately out of a college romance between her and a Dutch exchange student.

In a foreign city with meager funds for support, Tim soon is reduced to thievery on the streets, finally becoming a pusher for a drug dealer, getting hooked on narcotics himself.

Rajam Prasad (Ameyrit Dew), an Indian attending Billy Graham's historic 174 nation conference of evangelists in Amsterdam, makes a personal commitment to befriend the troubled youth. The two men, of such widely diverse backgrounds and cultures, share a common bond. Raj, too, lost a father when he was disinherited by his family and declared 'dead' by his father because of his conversion to Christianity.

'Caught' is being shown across Canada under the auspices of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association of Canada.

Pentecostal minister on the move

Two Drayton Valley ministers have submitted resignations to their respective churches.

Barry McGhie, who came to Drayton Valley in May 1985 has resigned as pastor of the Pentecostal Assembly. He will be moving to Winnipeg at the end of the month.

And Dave Turner, pastor with the Missionary Church for the past four years, has also resigned. "I thought a change was due," Turner said.

Going to Winnipeg for the McGhies is like going home.

Pastor Barry A. McGhie
His wife's parents reside there and a married son lives in the Manitoba capital. He won't be going to any specific church in Winnipeg, but plans to do some preaching in a number of churches for a while. "I'll take a church later on," he says.

"I've really enjoyed Drayton Valley. It's always hard to leave a place you enjoy."

Both churches are looking for replacements.

Dousing flames

The Drayton Valley volunteer fire department was called out recently to extinguish this grass fire that burned up a small section of land along Highway 22 south.

Who?

Has your name ever been misspelled?

The Evergreen Tourist Association sent a letter to Earl Briscoe, interim municipal manager with the MD of Brazeau recently.

However, they should consider themselves fortunate the letter found its way

It was addressed to Carl

John Erickson, the new MD manager, took the error in stride and says they often get mail with names misspelled

Grove members plan Christmas concert

By Sylvia Davidson

The Oct. 1 first annual pig barbecue was a big success. People from far and wide came out to support the association.

At the last general meeting it was decided not to have a Halloween party. Instead all the members' time and effort will be put in to providing a memorable Christmas concert. Anyone wishing to help out in any way is asked to call 512-1178 or 542-3171.

Sympathy is extended to Marge Brennan on the death of her grandson, Hugh Maclean, earlier this month.

Sympathy also goes out to friends and relatives of Alec McInnes who died recently.

The next general meeting will be held Nov. 1, 7:30 p.m. at the 4 H hall.

Survey of Subdivisional (electoral) Boundaries in Twin Rivers School Division

As required with the establishment of the Twin Rivers School Division No. 65, Alberta Education is conducting a review of the said Division for the purpose of determining electoral boundaries.

As part of the survey, submissions are invited from individuals and groups who wish to express their views and offer suggestions on matters related to representation and election of trustees in the school division.

The following meetings have been scheduled for receiving such submissions:

In Breton at Breton High School
7:00 p.m., Monday, October 24, 1988

In Lindale at Lindale School
7:00 p.m., Tuesday, October 25, 1988

In Drayton Valley at Frank Maddock High School,

Room 11 7:00 p.m.,

Wednesday, October 26, 1988

Anyone wishing to make written presentations at times other than noted above may, during school hours, leave their presentation with the School Secretary.

Further information may be obtained from:

Talk about innovative communications solutions

Share the air and save on your two-way radio system!

Several companies use radio frequency. And all users save money. If you can benefit from mobile communications but have hesitated until now, here's the affordable answer. Share your system and save.

By sharing repeater equipment and frequencies, you'll pay less - with no loss of efficiency and without compromising privacy. Better still, you can get on stream now - there's no waiting for DCC approval and the equipment's available.

Looking for two-way radio with low cost? Call AGT Mobile Communications today toll-free 1-811-3840.

Building boxes

Workers Gordon Robson (left) and Joe Silva construct the foundation of one of about 90 supermailboxes planned for Drayton Valley. The workers say it will take about one month before the Canada Post project is completed.

Opportunity to start planning career

By Susan Z. MacKenzie

Did you know you are likely to change occupations six or seven times throughout your career?

Perhaps when you were younger you delivered newspapers as you got older you went into sales, then became a student and now you volunteer to work for the local seniors while working as an accountant. That's already five occupations!

Since you were young you've probably had a long-term image of yourself as perhaps an advertising executive, a chartered accountant or chef. To reach that goal you've already realized you need to acquire certain skills.

Career planning is a process which helps you to identify these required skills. Once you identify these skills then you can decide which you need immediately, which you will need within a few years and which would be useful but not essential.

Keep an ongoing evaluation of your progress. Technology changes so quickly that skills you thought you required five years ago may have been automated.

Canada Career Week, Nov. 7-11, is the perfect opportunity for you to start planning your career.

For more information contact the career information hotline by dialing 0 and asking for Zenith 22140. These friendly and helpful consultants will direct you to the nearest career centre, send you materials and answer any questions you may have.

Community grants now available

MLA Shirley Crispis says municipalities and community groups will benefit through a major new funding program that has been set up from Alberta's lottery revenues.

Entitled the Community Facility Enhancement program, the initiative is a three year $100 million partnership program to grant matching funds for the repair, replacement, upgrading or expansion of sports, recreational, cultural and other community and family use facilities.

The main objectives of the program are:

- to improve and modernize existing community facilities, ensuring their continued and expanded use by Albertans

- to increase the efficiency of existing community facilities, thereby protecting and maximizing the hundreds of millions of dollars Albertans already have invested in them, and,

- to develop facilities which not only enhance the quality of life enjoyed by Albertans, but also the province's efforts to diversify and strengthen the economy including hosting provincial, national and international events at upgraded facilities thereby reaping benefits to tourism and our service sector that otherwise may not have been achieved.

Organizations eligible to apply may begin to submit completed applications this month. The last date for submitting applications for program funding is Sept. 1991. All municipalities in Alberta are eligible to apply under the program guidelines, and community groups may also apply as long as their mandate includes the provision of leisure services for community and family use, recreational, sport or cultural purposes.

HALLOWEEN CONDEMNED IN THE BIBLE

"There shall not be found among you, one who practices witchcraft, or a soothsayer, or one who interprets omens, or a soothsayer, or one who conjures spells, or a medium, or a spiritist, or one who calls up the dead. For all who do these things are an abomination to YAHWEH" (Lev. 18:10-12)

HALLOWEEN Harmless fun? Or promotion of an Abomination?

Alder Flats

Deaths sadden town

By Bernice Johnson

The community was saddened with the sudden deaths of Hugh MacLenn and Derrick Schultz within a day of each other.

MacLenn was killed in an vehicle accident near Alikee and Schultz died in an automobile fire at Eckville. Derrick was the grandson of Francis and Elgin Niselle of Alder Flats and the son of Mavis and Len Schultz.

MacLenn attended school in Alder Flats. He married Rhonda Miller on June 30, 1984. He enjoyed flying his father's plane, coaching minor hockey, curling, hunting and was active in community events.

Funeral services for Hugh MacLenn were held at the Alder Flats Community Centre Oct. 13. Memorial donations may be made to the Alder Flats Minor Hockey Association.

Harold and Bernice Johnson attended the funeral of his niece, Lynne Antypowich in Valleyview, who died Oct. 3 at the age of 38.

More than 3,000 cattle spend the summer at the Pembina Grazing Reserve.

Cattle leave grazing reserves

Cattle are being moved back to their winter stomping grounds across Alberta as the summer grazing season comes to an end at provincial reserves.

The Pembina Grazing Reserve, located about 10 kms southeast of Cynthia, started its takeout program last week.

The grazing reserve, stocked for the summer with a total of 1,360 hereford cattle, 1,847 exotic cattle and 60 bulls.

Because new pasture is developed every year,
the number of animals that can be accommodated at the reserve is increasing all the time.

said grazing reserves clerk Marion St. Clair. The Pembina reserve first opened in 1960. It should reach its pasture capacity by 1990.

The cattle were rounded up and removed from the 19,537 acre site on three separate days: Oct.
18, 20 and 25.

A total of 40 cattle owners received allotments at the reserve this summer.

The chief purpose of the provincial reserves is to provide affordable summer pasture for farmers and ranchers, enabling them to use their own land for crop and hay production.

Farming proposals needed

The provincial government's largest source of funding for agricultural research and demonstration projects is making a call for proposals for the 1988-89
program year.

Farming for the Future, an agricultural research program funded by the Alberta Heritage Savings
Trust Fund, advises that proposals under its two funding mechanisms are now being accepted.

Under the more formal research component, agricultural researchers have until Nov. 1 to make application for funds.

Under the on-farm
demonstration component producers and farm organizations can submit proposals for projects primarily oriented to demonstrating and/or testing agricultural technology generated by Farming for the Future and other programs. Proposals for on-farm demonstrations are accepted on a year-round basis.

Research proposals must be submitted, by the deadline, on 1988 application forms and awards will be subject to the revised 1988 terms of reference.

On-farm demonstration proposals are reviewed on a year-round basis and should be directed to an Alberta
Agriculture district
agriculturist, home
economist or regional district specialist.
